Strange Facts

Do you know how an Eskimo kills a wolf without a gun or trap?

He smears a knife with blood and buries it in the sand with only the blade protruding. The wolf scents the blood and licks the blade, cutting his tongue. Excited by the taste and smell he gormandises literally whetting his appetite in his own blood, finally bleeding to death.

Food for Thought

"A commonplace life," we say and we sigh,

But why should we sigh as we say,
The commonplace sun in the commonplace sky

Makes up the commonplace day.

The moon and the stars are commonplace things,

And the flower that blooms and the bird that sings,

But dark were the world, and sad our lot,

If the flowers failed, and the sun shone not;

And God, who studies each separate soul

Out of commonplace lives, makes His beautiful whole.
