

APPRENTICE TRAINING CENTRE OPEN DAY

Held at the Apprentice Training Centre on Tuesday 18th May, the second Open Day for parents, relatives and friends of apprentices proved to be outstandingly successful.

Throughout the afternoon the large crowd displayed a keen interest in the work of the apprentices in the various trades. As an outcome, we're sure that many parents will have a much better appreciation of the work their sons are doing and, equally important, of the scope of the facilities available for training in their careers.

Cockle Creek News camera was there also and photographs of the occasion are pictured on this centrespread . . . (1) Mr. W. Bainbridge is engrossed in what son Peter (Electrical) is doing. Mr. Bainbridge is Secretary of Newcastle Apprentice Advisory Committee. (2) Mrs. T. Ramage, mother of Michael Ramage (F & T), and his sister Jackie (Jacqueline) pause from inspecting a product display of zinc applications for our camera. (3) Pictured around the milling machine being operated by Keith Crick (F & T), this group includes Mr. & Mrs. C. Blewett, parents of Garry Blewett (F & T). (4) Mrs. V. Griffith and son Graham (Boilermaking). (5) Former Sulphider, Mr. Tom Dick and Mrs. Dick at the lathe of Robert Lloyd (F & T). Mr. & Mrs. Dick's son, John, is a fitting and turning apprentice here. (6) Mr. & Mrs. J. Hinton with son Rodney (Electrical). (7) Shows Graham Smith (Electrical) with his parents, Mr. & Mrs. P. Smith and brother, Wayne. (8) Mr. & Mrs. J. Bennett at the large drill with son Kevin (F & T). (9) Chris Bull (Electrical) explains part of a job to his parents, Mr. & Mrs. A. Bull. (10) Paul Kirkness (Electrical) with his wife, Janice and little nieces, Christine and Cheryl. (11) Garry Sutton (Boilermaking) with his parents Mr. & Mrs. A. Sutton and sister, Jenny. (12) Mr. & Mrs. G. Gleghorn and son Neil (F & T). Another son, Ross, is a 3rd year Electrical apprentice here.