FW-01	HEADFRAME, fmr MINING MUSEUM, FREEMANS WATERHOLE West Wallsend No.1 Colliery (Item WW-02) had a steel headframe erected in 1885/86, reputedly the first in Australia. Recently the top half of the headframe was cut off and moved to a small private mining museum (now defunct) at Freeman's Waterhole. As part of the proposed archaeological interpretation of the West Wallsend No.1 Colliery site, the top of the Headframe now at Freeman's Waterhole should be re-erected on top of the half-headframe still at West Wallsend, with original or reconstructed back-stays. Various organisations could be approached to contribute to such a project. See Recommendations for Item WW-02.	W AR	H H V
